APUA Recognizes Seven Newly Certified Water Treatment and Distribution Operators

As a company dedicated to not only improving the lives of its customers but also its employees, APUA would like to announce the successful training and certification of seven Water Treatment and Distribution Operators. The Authority would like to congratulate Akeem Benjamin, Terry Benjamin, Cory Browne, Jason Browne, St. Clare Charles, Livingstone Samuel and John A. Thomas, who all were successful in passing their Association of Boards of Certification exam.

The newly certified operators went through a rigorous seven month evening course which covered foundation subjects such as English Grammar and Comprehension, Math, Chemistry, Hydraulics and Health & Safety with a main concentration on Treatment and Distribution, Water Treatment and Distribution.

As Water Treatment and Distribution Operators these employees are now better equipped to serve the nation by ensuring that all consumers receive safe potable water. The Water Business Unit of APUA works with many global, regional and local partners to ensure that the quality of water it produces and distributes to its customers is of a superior standard.
